When it came to the 3,800m<sup>2</sup> roof of the £25m community hospital for the Billericay, Brentwood & Wickford Primary Care Trust a quick to install, Green Guide A+ rated Sika-Trocal Type S roofing membrane installed by Sika-Trocal licensed contractor, CA Single Ply Ltd was the ideal solution.

Designed by Sheppard Robson architects, the Mansell Construction built community hospital in Brentwood, Essex will serve approximately 75,000 people in the immediate area. They will all have access to a dedicated workforce of health and social care staff professionals including nurses, midwives, dentists, consultant specialists, community nurses and therapists and social workers. Not only has the building been constructed with the very latest environmentally sensitive materials, but it is a perfect example of what tomorrow's state of the art community hospitals will offer.

Tim Clark, national sales manager of Sika-Trocal comments: "Every year we are involved in a wide range of projects including schools, hospitals and other public buildings. Our experience, expertise and ability to tick all the right boxes for both the specifier and contractor helps set us apart, and the Brentwood Community Hospital project is a perfect example."
